

Brussels-based KIVO 3D announces strategic partnership with V-Ex platform to deliver online venues and events

28 February 2024

Brussels-based 3D specialist KIVO 3D is pushing the boundaries of realism for online spaces by offering a range of solutions from 360 photography of physical spaces to fully 3D rendered environments. A deal with the global leader in the field V-Ex is now pushing the realism and functionality of those virtual spaces to the maximum.

Having worked together to offer Digital Twins, the two companies have now extended the relationship to incorporate virtual buildings, showrooms, exhibitions and conferences – all delivered on the V-Ex platform. KIVO 3D has signed an exclusive deal to offer V-Ex 3D content, platform, virtual and hybrid events in Belgium. V-Ex is headquartered in the UK, but as an export business focussed on serving the US and European markets, it needed an established partner in the EU to continue supplying organisations and companies committed to sourcing locally.

KIVO 3D is a digital platform specialist that provides immersive, interactive 3D experiences of real-life places. The company specializes in creating digital twins of real buildings and spaces, allowing visitors to explore and interact with them in real time. It now offers the ability to create completely new virtual environments and build live online education, sales and events experiences around those spaces.

Both companies are used to delivering explorable 3D spaces but the latest generation of venues conferences and online showrooms can now be built as an exact Digital Twin reproduction of a physical space, or as a completely new virtual environment.
